

Money and the Divisive Nature of Politics with Alan Tulppo

Tuesday
Aug. 5, 2014
7–9pm
Many Ways of Peace
217 S. Main St.
Downtown Eagle River

What can ordinary citizens do? Has the time finally come to publicly fund elections? Should “we, the people” demand the redefinition of a person to exclude corporations? Hear what Alan Tulppo has to say and join the conversation!

Alan Tulppo is a Social Studies teacher at Northland Pines High School in Eagle River. He earned Bachelor and Masters degrees in Secondary Education and Social Studies and was a Teaching Fellow with the Wisconsin Academy for the Study of American History through UW-Oshkosh. He teaches Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Criminology and History.
